

WE ARE LOOKING FOR A NEW CHAIR OF THE BOARD TO JOIN US AT TRANSITION STIRLING

This is an exciting opportunity to make a big difference to the future of Transition Stirling, acting as a key asset in development and growth.

We are very proud of the work our staff, volunteers and members do in helping the community understand and adapt to the challenges of climate change.

We have ten years history of raising awareness of climate change and providing practical advice on how people can transition towards a more sustainable lifestyle. This has ranged from programmes involving community gardens, foraging & community woodlands to sharing, repairing and upcycling of goods.

This year, we are excited to have been awarded funding from Zero Waste Scotland to further expand our operations, to include a Reuse Hub, which we'll deliver in partnership with Stirling Council and other local organisations.

Creation of the Hub means our team is expanding to take on more paid staff and volunteers.

The Board is an engaged and vital element of our work in Stirling. Board members have visibility with the staff and service users and join in the work we do throughout the year. They provide a strategic and performance monitoring role for the organisation. We are looking for a people-focussed, enthusiastic individual with a keen interest in the environment. Ideally, our new chair will be a confident communicator and effective leader, sharing our commitment to continually finding new ways to engage positively with the local community. If this is you, we'd love to hear from you!

If you would like an informal conversation about the role, please contact our interim chair, Naomi Ross (07793 614621) or our secretary Duncan Clark (07734 4446110). To apply, please send a brief covering email and CV to duncanclark1@mac.com. The closing date for expressions of interest is Sunday 8th December.
